

JUNE 24-26, 2025
ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, CANADA

11TH INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON AVIAN INFLUENZA

ABOUT THE SYMPOSIUM

The 11th International Symposium on Avian Influenza aims to bring together scientists, biologists, veterinarians, medical researchers and professionals, and government regulators to exchange and discuss current scientific information on avian influenza and will address national and international issues focusing on domestic animals, wildlife, and human health.

TOPICS & ABSTRACT CATEGORIES:

1. Global reports on avian influenza
2. Diagnostics, vaccination, or other mitigation strategies for poultry and wildlife
3. Notable outbreaks, field and molecular epidemiology, and surveillance in poultry
4. Notable outbreaks, field and molecular epidemiology, and surveillance in wild birds
5. Biosecurity, mitigation, control, and post-epidemic considerations in poultry
6. Mortality estimations, impacts on harvest, conservation considerations, and potential mitigation strategies in wild birds
7. Avian influenza in mammals, pandemic preparedness, and one health
8. Transmission pathways or pathobiology, immune responses
9. Late breaking

REGISTER TODAY >

SUBMIT ABSTRACT >

www.AvianInfluenzaSymposium.com